Grave Discord Exists Among German Workers and Empire is Apparently Divided Into Three Classes

CITY WILL LOSE $7,836.82 ON WATER ALONE

It can be seen what the city of Portsmouth will lose in the water department alone under a no-license system in this state beginning May 1, 1918.

The several brewing companies alone pay $6,881.82 for their supply, while the bottling plants and saloons add to this with $855.50, making a total loss of $7,836.82.

WAGE INCREASE FOR NASHUA MILL WORKERS

(By Associated Press.)

Nashua, N. H., April 28.—The Nashua Manufacturing Company, operating two cotton mills, today announced a general wage increase for their 4500 employees effective Monday. The amount of increase is not stated.

(By Associated Press.)

Counter German attacks on the British lines in France have ended and the British troops are now advancing.

A complete lull is said to mark the second phase of the world's greatest battle.

All of the power of German censorship is being used to conceal the gravest discord that exists among the German workers.

The situation in Germany appears to be that the Empire is divided into three classes.

First, the old Junker class, who talk of a victorious war and rich indemnities after the conflict.

Second, the Socialistic majority who exercise no desire for neither the money or Germany's further expansion.

Third, the radical Socialistic element which includes the workers and are sick of war and desire peace at any price.

EGYPT TO RAISE FLAX

Cairo, Egypt, April 28.—Efforts are being made in Egypt to revive the cultivation of flax. The war has cut off the chief supplies to Great Britain and France, and at present prices, there are huge profits for Egyptian growers on an extensive scale. The area in Egypt under flax doubled last year.

IMPORT DUTIES ARE INCREASED

Mexico City, April 28.—Import duties on all goods sent by parcels post or by mail have been increased one hundred per cent.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, April 28.—The administration forces overthrew the opponents of the administration selective conscription bill in the first vote today when an effort was made to strike the volunteer administration measure from the bill.

The vote sustaining the bill was 279 to 98.

The vote came after an amendment by Representative Conn, who led the fight, who moved to strike out the volunteer measure.

It assured the passage of the bill as drawn by the war experts.

Debate in the Senate was commenced by Senator Harding who also introduced a resolution to permit Col. Roosevelt to raise four divisions for service abroad.

Senators Curtis of Kansas and Smith of Illinois also endorsed the Roosevelt resolution.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, speaking in favor of the resolution, said: "I can see no reason why men over 25 who desire to fight for their country, should not be allowed to do so on French soil. It cannot injure the practice of enlistment."

EIGHT HUNDRED APPRENTICES ARRIVE TODAY

In Temporary Quarters at the Navy Yard; Officers to Drill Them at Once.

The eight hundred apprentice seamen from the Great Lakes training and recruiting station arrived at the navy yard this forenoon in two trains made up of 19 cars. The trains were moved to the navy yard and the cars emptied near the head of the old dry dock basin. They were in charge of chief petty officers. After a medical examination by the yard physicians they were marched to different parts of the yard for quarters. This battalion will be kept separate from the naval reserve.

Part of them will be quartered in the yard rigging loft, more of them assigned the top floor of the pattern shop and some in the old hospital. They will remain in the places only temporarily to await the installation of a camp to be built on the yard playground.

The government has assigned several officers to the work of drilling these men and they will arrive here shortly to begin the work.

The apprentices are a lot of promising young men and the general comment is that they will make excellent men for the service.

"RED TAPE" AS GRAFT KILLER IN THE ARMY

ACCOUNTING SYSTEM WILL BE RAPIDLY ADHERED TO DURING THE WAR.

Washington, April 27.—Further precautions to prevent even a suspicion of graft by army officers in the disbursement of the fund of $3,000,000,000 which will be spent to build up a war force have been taken by the War Department. The following order has been sent to all departmental commanders:

"The purchase of any article, publication or other thing by which an officer of the army would derive financial profit will not be permitted to be made from public funds during the present war."

The army accounting system has been developed to prevent any possibility of officers making improper use of funds. It has been characterized as "red tape," but it is pointed out that the system has been completely successful in its main objects, and it will not be relaxed because of war conditions. Every effort to decentralize the administration of army funds will be made in the interest of quick action. All officers will be held rigidly accountable, however, for their disbursements.

CONFISCATION OF SHIPMENT OF "CURIOS"

(By Associated Press)

Liverpool, England, April 28.—In demanding the confiscation of certain shipments of "curios" sent from Japan to Sweden, the government attorney read the following letter in Prize Court, sent by a Hamburg curio firm to a dealer in Japan:

"We would like to obtain large quantities of very heavy copper and bronze vases, animals, etc. It is essential that the objects be very cheap, but we lay no importance to their condition, execution, etc. You can send us the roughest and most faulty specimens. The articles must be massive and not hollow, and must have the appearance of curios. If you can ship ten to twenty tons monthly as curios to Sweden, we shall be glad to have you quote lowest price. You might also arrange to pack the cases with raw rubber so works of art won't suffer damage. Aluminum objects of art also interest us."

MUCH LAND READY FOR CULTIVATION

Portsmouth Garden Committee Will Make Awards to Applicants for Free Land for Garden Purposes to All Who Apply

The work of increasing the food supply of Portsmouth is being rapidly developed and in a great measure the efforts of the Portsmouth Garden Committee is directly responsible. Through the efforts of this committee a great deal of land has been turned over to the public under the direction of the committee which has maintained headquarters in the rooms of the Organized Charities, County Court House, and as announced last evening much of this land will be made ready for cultivation by Monday. The land already placed at the disposal of the committee is being rapidly taken up and the members of the committee hope that offers of land will be made by other patriotic citizens. There is a special call for land by people living in the South End who find the distance to the City Field and other outlying tracts too great in some cases to make the undertaking of developing it possible.

The committee has been assisted in the work of getting the land ready for cultivation in many respects. Offers of stable dressing have been made by Dr. Heflinger and Mr. Harry Sussman, and it is hoped that others will also contribute. Mr. Eugene Williams has offered a day's ploughing and the committee believe that some others will follow his generous example. The members of the committee have expressed warmly their appreciation to those who have cooperated with them in making the project possible.

To date about thirty people, many of whom are experienced gardeners, have already applied for land in amounts ranging from one acre to lots 100 by 60 feet. All applying and receiving grants of land are expected to fill out an application card, pay a registration fee of fifty cents and agree to faithfully cultivate the land given to them and accepted by them. If anyone fails to do so after proper warning he forfeits further right to the land.

It is expected that the land will be ploughed and lots awarded next week in the order in which applications have been filed.

The land for cultivation now at the disposal of the committee has been offered as follows:

Aldrich Memorial Field, Court and Addison streets (through Dr. Walker).

Two lots on Greenland Road beyond the second bridge by Mrs. Hoyt and Mrs. Charles Woods.

Prospect Park, two lots by Mrs. P. G. Marshall, eight lots by Mr. Cate, two lots by Mr. Hiett, two lots by Mr. Sussman, two lots by Mrs. Wm. Anderson, three lots by Mr. Tobey.

Two lots on Monroe street by Mrs. William Pickett.

Lot on Middle Road on shares by Mrs. Wm. K. Hill.

Large lot on Austin street by Dr. May.

Land at corner of Little Harbor Road by Fred Shaw.

Land on Blwyn Farm by Miss Elwyn.

Two acres on Beane Farm, Newington.

Lot next Franklin school by Mrs. Frank Philbrick.

25 acres on Almshouse field by the city.

The committee will be in session at the Court House this afternoon and evening from 3.00 to 5.00 o'clock and from 7.00 to 9.00 o'clock. Office hours for next week will be announced through Monday's papers.

ROOSEVELT PLAN TURNED DOWN BY HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

(By Associated Press)

Washington, April 27.—Both houses of Congress sat late tonight in order to clear the way for a vote on the army bill which will provide for the raising of an army of 100,000,000 to aid the allies in the war against Prussian militarism. There is tonight every certainty that the bill will pass both houses by large majorities without change of importance as it came from the war department with the approval of the general staff of the army. This means the approval of the selective draft feature and the killing of the amendment to raise the army strictly by the volunteer plan. Although the leaders in both houses are confident in carrying through the bill as it is approved by the administration those opposing the selective draft feature are not inclined to give up the fight and will battle on the floor until the vote is taken.

The chances of Col. Theodore Roosevelt having the government permission to lead an army of 100,000 men to France was killed on the first vote on the amendment in the house early this afternoon. That he may later be placed in command of a large body of troops is still though possible as such a command might be assigned by the President as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy.

Near the end of the day's session in the Senate Senator La Follette announced that he intended to speak against the selective draft feature of the bill and that he would offer an amendment which would allow the question to be submitted in a referendum to the voters of the country. He was evidently prepared to speak at great length as he had a large number of books and papers at his desk for reference. Both houses are prepared to take the vote and it will probably come before adjournment tomorrow night.

ARTILLERY ACTION PROMISES NEW OFFENSIVE BY ALLIES

(By Associated Press)

Incessant cannonading is taking place on the whole line between Lens and Amiens in France while the infantry is apparently resting after the three week's activity. The British artillery, which in the past two weeks in the battle of Arras has thrown more shells than in any battle in the world's history, continues to pour a steady rain of shells into the German lines with telling effect while the French artillery keeps up a steady bombardment of the lines on their part of the battle front. The German artillery answers here and there. The artillery action and the quiet of the infantry is probably the lull which precedes another great forward drive of the British and French in northern France.

The British have checked a forward movement by the German forces under Crown Prince Rupprecht whose attempt to recover lost ground failed with heavy losses. South and north-west of St. Quentin, that strong link in the chain of Germany's defenses is the center of much activity. Strong German attempts to throw back the allied forces have been met success-

GREET OFFICERS OF FRANCE IN ROYAL STYLE

WILL SERVE IN TRAINING MEMBERS OF THE HARVARD OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY

(By Associated Press)

Harvard undergraduates extended a royal welcome to the six French army officers commissioned by the French government to act as drill masters to the Harvard Officers Training Corps. They were met at the South Station by the Harvard regiment and escorted through the business section of the city, by City Hall and the State House where they were reviewed by Mayor Curley and Lieutenant Governor Coolidge. Tonight they were given a reception by the Harvard Club. The officers are men who are experienced in all departments of modern fighting and are capable for service at present owing to their having been wounded.

fully by the French and British forces. Efforts of the Crown Prince to gain lost territory northeast and south of St. Quentin have failed with a loss to the Germans of more than 200,000 in killed, wounded and captured.

In the local operations on the Arras—Cambrai section and to the north the British have gained some ground and the French have advanced some distance on the Valenciennes plateau, according to the official dispatches.

In the air fighting the British airmen shot down ten machines on Friday and twelve others were forced down, many believed to have been destroyed. Berlin claims to have sent down eleven allied air craft in the day's fighting.

General Maude has made considerable progress in the fighting on the eastern front in the region of Jebel Hamrin hill between the Tigris and the Dajla. The British forces are reported to have the Turks in full retreat. The Russian forces on the other side of the hill are advancing on the southern tip and the town of Kizilabat has been occupied jointly by the British and Russians.

ACTION IS REGARDED AS A DEMOCRATIC MOVE

Tokio, April 28.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Coming immediately after the Russian revolution, great significance was attached here to the promulgation of a law making it possible for any Japanese subject, however humble, to communicate directly with the Emperor. The action is regarded as a democratic move to establish closer relationship between the imperial house and the people.

The right of direct appeal to the Emperor was provided for in the constitution which Emperor Meiji granted to his subjects in 1889, but the privilege has never existed in practice. The Privy Council, at the suggestion of the Terauchi cabinet, has just promulgated regulations making the constitutional provision effective. Appeals, petitions or other communications may now be sent direct to the Emperor.

SULLIVAN MUST DIG UP NEW POLITICAL THUNDER

Manchester, April 27.—The campaign in the first district will be on with interest from new until election time. May 29. It is expected that both parties will bring men of national reputation to New Hampshire from both Washington and other large places, and the election tones of the campaign orator will pervade throughout the length and breadth of the district. It looks like an extremely active talking event, with some of the biggest "guns" on both sides in the fray. Both parties will open headquarters in Manchester where the active work will be carried on. During the past week the Democrats from over the district to the number of about thirty of the "bosses" assembled and talked over details.

Some Democratic Soreness
The shelving of Charles H. Tilton and Dr. George M. Watson and the selection of Patrick H. Sullivan as the Democratic candidate by the "power-that-be" has left a bad taste in the mouths of many of the oldtime Democrats. Tilton who resides at Tilton, is a millionaire, and was the candidate that was most looked upon as the contender for the Democratic party. He had long been heralded as the man who might redeem the district. But when the show down came he was dropped like a hot potato and Sullivan was selected in his place. Dr. Watson had a host of Democratic friends in his home city of Manchester, who were for him, but he too was sent to the political scrap heap in order that the place might be given to Patrick H. Sullivan. This action of settling the nomination before the assembling of the Democratic convention and making the action of the delegates only a mere question of ratification, has caused more or less criticism and comment among members of that political party which will show its effect at the polls on election day.

Standing by the President
It was the plan of the Democrats to appeal to the voters of the district to "stand by the president." Developments in Washington, however, have taken a crimp into the Democratic "thunder" along these lines, and it looks from present indications that the president of the United States was keeping his own party in line than he was with the Republican party, which stood by him in congress on every proposition looking to national safety and the security and protection of our country. Certainly with the unanimous Republican vote on the bond issue and the almost solid support on the declaration of war, there is no ground left for the "stand by the president" issue. Patrick H. Sullivan evidently cannot slip into congress in the first district on any such threadbare issue as this. He will have to face some live issues and some mighty potent questions affecting the industrial and commercial situation that will arise in this district and the country when this war closes.

Where New Hampshire Stood

On this "standing by the president" issue, it is being called to the attention of the voters that when all of the recent and very important measures, including the declaration of war on Germany, were pending in the congress of the United States, that only two votes from New Hampshire have been shown in the Congressional Record.

The two New Hampshire statesmen who have stood behind the president through thick and thin in this matter have been United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger and Congressman Edward H. Watson, both Republicans. The vote of Henry F. Hollis, Democratic United States senator, does not appear. His seat has been vacant and his voice has been silent. When the war declaration was before the senate, the Congressional Record states that Senator

Salisbury of Delaware said: "Hollis was detained by important business." Yet rumors from Pinchurst, N. C., are that he was playing golf down there on or about this period. This action of Senator Hollis, his long and, as yet, his unexplained absence, shows who is "standing by the president."

Clean Up!

The time of year has arrived for cleaning up individual premises and cities and towns, and the calls of mayors of municipalities, big and little, for action in this direction on the part of the citizens make agreeable reading as they appear in the columns of the daily papers.

It is well that there should be a general cleaning up at least once a year, and spring is the season when this should be done. When the last of the old snowbanks have departed and the earth is bared for the first time in months there is disclosed even in the most painstaking community an accumulation of waste which calls for immediate removal if there is to be the least semblance of neatness and regard for the rules of health.

There was a time when this accumulation of rubbish and litter was regarded as of no consequence so long as the people were able to stand the sight of it, but that time is past. It is now understood that the looks of the year's accumulation of filth in yards and gardens is the least important part of it; that the question of health is involved, and that in the most serious sense "Cleanliness is next to godliness."

It is therefore well that in the spring of the year there should be a general movement in the direction of cleaning up all out doors. There is no home that does not need some attention, no matter how careful its owner may have been to avoid the collection of waste, and there is no city or town so well governed and managed that it is not in need of some cleaning up at this time of the year. The conditions may not be positively bad, but they are capable of improvement, as will be shown by a proper application of the hoe, the shovel and the broom, materially aided, in many cases, by a lusty bonfire.

Men, women and children just now are expected to serve their country in one way or another, and in no way can many of these be more effective than by lending a willing hand to the clean-up campaign. No one able to get out of doors is too young or too old to help in this humble but important work, and if all will do their part the part of all will be easy, and the result will be worth far more than the cost.

Clean up!

The woman member of Congress is causing the suffragists some worry. They fear her action on various important matters may strengthen the belief that women are not adapted to the work of government, and many of them are trembling in their high boots. Miss Rankin's vote against the war resolution set the suffragists to thinking, but they should possess their souls in patience. As long as Miss Rankin votes according to her honest convictions she will not endanger the cause of good government or of the women who are striving so earnestly for the ballot.

Many of the students of the Massachusetts Agricultural College are reported as ready to go to work on the farms, and this is welcome news to the people of the Bay State. The same should be true of the students of all agricultural colleges unless they see fit to perform the more valiant part of going to the front. If the agricultural colleges of the country ever had a chance to show their practical value it is now.

The placing of postmasters under civil service at the present time will work to the advantage of the Democratic incumbents of the offices, but this does not prevent strong Republican papers from commending the course of the President. This shows that their comment is based upon principle and not upon policy. It is a step in the right direction and one that should result in substantial benefit to the country.

The Bulgarian minister of war has a way of his own infiguring out the situation, if he is correctly reported. He says that the United States, having entered the war, will need all of her supplies and munitions and that, being unable to supply these to the Allies, her course will be of direct benefit to Germany. As a sample of glowing optimism this view is entitled to the sweetened bread.

In some quarters the adoption of the daylight-saving plan is being urged as a war measure; just as if setting the clocks ahead an hour would bring the war to an end so much sooner.

The most popular public entertainment these days is a flag raising.

SET MACHINERY FOR DRAFTING OF TWO MILLION MEN

Registering Begins in Every Township 10 Days After Army Bill Passes.

Washington, April 28.—With enactment of the selective draft bill apparently assured, the war department is preparing to set the machinery in action without delay to produce under the measure within two years a trained army of 2,000,000 men.

Within ten days after the bill is signed every township in the country will be registering its young men for duty, and work will have been begun on the 16 training camps of the forces for war will start in August or September. Sites for the camps have been selected tentatively and all arrangements made for the concentration of the troops assigned to each.

Decentralization of administration work will be sought by the department in every move it makes. Details will not be disclosed until the bill has passed, but it is known that registration will be carried on through sheriffs and county officers, aided by postmasters or other federal agencies where that seems desirable. Instructions and forms already have been prepared and will be forwarded to the state adjutant general for distribution among the county officials.

Wide publicity is planned so that no man liable for registration will have a good excuse for failing to respond. On a date to be set every citizen affected by the act will be required on pain of heavy penalty, to present himself at the nearest registration place where machinery will be provided for classifying the recruits and eliminating those exempt. Doubtful cases will be referred to a high authority.

With the rolls of those liable for service complete, the task of selecting the men to go in the first increment of 500,000 will begin. It has been suggested that this be done by means of the county jury wheel. The first man whose name is drawn would go, under that plan, with the first 500,000 to be called out for training within a few months. The second drawn would go with the second increment to be called six months later, the third with the third increment, with duty a year off; the fourth with the fourth increment, and so on.

Meanwhile the work of building the camps will go forward. Regular troops and national guardsmen will be assigned to them with such arm of the service so represented as to provide the framework of a complete army division at each point. The guardsmen will be selected from the territory covered by the training district as far as practicable. Police duty at the camps will become part of the responsibility of each district commander and he will make such assignment of his forces as he may deem wise. Meanwhile, both the regulars and the guardsmen will continue recruiting to war strength.

With the new regiments assembled, a rigorous course of training will be undertaken. The officers' training camps to be established within a few days in each district will begin at the end of three months to pour new officers into this organization and the enlisted men selected from the ranks of the regulars for commissions will be given special instructions to fit them for officers. Until the army of young men presents itself at the camps in August or September the regulars and guardsmen will pursue a vigorous course of training.

The plans call for the transfer to the first 500,000 men obtained by draft of from 150,000 to 200,000 non-commissioned officers trained in the regular and national guard regiments. It is here that the opportunity lies for men who volunteer now as enlisted men in the ranks of the two services. On them, war department officials believe, even to a greater extent than upon the commissioned officers, will depend the efficiency of the new armies. The backbone and military organizations as its non-commissioned force and in the months that precede the calling out of the first 500,000 officers of the general staff hope there will be found in the ranks of the regulars and guardsmen such a supply of men competent for these positions that the future of the later armies will be assured beyond all doubt.

MESSAGE HAS BEEN WIDELY COMMENTED UPON

(By Associated Press)

Peking, April 28.—Before leaving Peking with the German legation staff, the German minister, Admiral Von Hintze, issued a farewell message to the Germans in China which has been widely commented on by both the Chinese and foreign newspapers.

Admiral Von Hintze came to the Orient shortly after the beginning of the war on a Norwegian ship, unheralded and unannounced. After his arrival in Peking, he made himself known to the foreign office and the story of his trip to China became known. He was German minister in Mexico previous to assuming the Chinese post. In his farewell message he said:

"May the Almighty God, on whose altar we place the laurels of our victories and from whose bosom we create new strength, perseverance, take all the Germans in China under his protection."

Baron Maltzan, the counselor of the German legation, his wife, Baroness Maltzan, the Chinese secretary of the legation, and his wife and daughters are accompanying the minister. Only minor members of the legation staff are permitted to remain to assist the Dutch minister in handling German affairs.

GERMANY WILL NOT EXHAUST HER RESOURCES

(By Associated Press)

Paris, April 28.—The equivalent of $3,200,000,000 a year is what Germany should be compelled to pay the Entente allies during as many years as may be necessary to liquidate the total war debt, asserts M. de Verneuil, honorary president of the Paris Official Stockbrokers' Association. He calculates that she will be able to pay such an annuity.

The exposition by Dr. Karl Helfferich, the German vice-chancellor, of the economic situation of Germany in 1913 is taken by M. de Verneuil as the basis of his calculations. The figures he cites are as follows:

The wealth of the German empire in 1913—375,000,000,000 francs.

Annual revenue therefrom—50,000,000,000 francs.

Government and individual expenditures of all sorts—37,500,000,000 francs, including Germany's vast outlay for armament.

Total yearly economies—12,500,000,000 francs of which 2,500,000,000 is credited to the growing value of existing fortunes, leaving 10,000,000,000 francs net savings from actual earnings.

These figures of Germany's annual annual accumulation of wealth are confirmed, M. de Verneuil asserts, by all careful German calculators and he takes the net 10,000,000,000 as the basis for figuring Germany's paying capacity. He adds 1,500,000,000 francs to be derived from a tax of five francs per ton on Germany's coal production of 250,000,000 tons, 500,000,000 to be raised by a per capita tax of ten francs per year, 75,000,000 francs from an annual contribution levied upon all cities of more than 100,000 population, and 1,750,000,000 francs from increased passenger and freight rates and receipts from monopolies. This he arrives at an aggregate of 15,000,000,000 francs.

A superposed tax of 20 to 30 percent on the coupons of all German bonds and bonds of other nations held in Germany would furnish another 1,000,000,000 francs M. de Verneuil says, to be applied to the indemnification of all the victims of the war.

M. de Verneuil disagrees with those who think that Germany's resources will be entirely exhausted when she asks for peace. She will be able, he thinks, very promptly after the cessation of hostilities to take up again, with even increased facilities for production, the extraordinary activity that Dr. Helfferich exposed with detailed figures.

France, with her great industrial region of the north paralyzed for a considerable period will be in a greater state of inferiority than ever as compared to her aggressor, he anticipates, and he cites it as one more reason for loading upon Germany a compensating burden that will prevent her from enjoying an advantage so ruthlessly gained.

MILLER'S MUSICAL COMEDY.

Carefully Selected High Standard Show at City Opera House.

Miller's Musical Comedy Company, which has been playing to capacity all over the circuit since the opening of the theatrical season, will be the attraction at the Colonial during the week beginning April 30th. Matinees will be held daily and if the past success of this company can be taken as a criterion crowded houses will be in order. The production is one of the biggest in the musical comedy circuit today and the high standard which the company has attained is due to the careful selection of principals, good singers, dancers, comedians, an evenly balanced chorus of Broadway girls, new and up to date costumes and special scenery. The company is composed of twenty people, sixteen of whom go to make up the beautiful chorus, any member of which is able to do a specialty.

Miss Grace Lewis, known as the second Tetrazzini, is the stellar attraction. Considered one of the handsomest women on the stage, she is also possessed of a clear and powerful voice and has a stage personality which is peculiar to herself. She is probably the highest paid prima donna in musical comedy at the present time and is the recipient of encomiums wherever she goes. Her wardrobe is elaborate and the dresses which she wears during the action of the play include many imported creations. There will be a change of program on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

VETERAN U. S. TELEGRAPHERS VOLUNTEER

(By Associated Press)

New York April 28.—Surviving members of the U. S. Military Telegraph Corps of the Civil war, although all more than 70 years old, have volunteered their services to the U. S. government in the present war. Through the president of the society, William Bender Wilson of Holmsburg, Pa., and the secretary David Homer Bates, of this city, the suggestion has been made to Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, that the survivors of the corps and grandsons be enrolled for government service in a special reserve corps to be designated as "The Civil War Military Telegraphers Corps," under the command of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bates.

In offering the services of these Civil war telegraphers who were in the United States army, and their descendants, the officers of the Society of the United States Military Telegraph Corps, proposed that they should serve without pay under the supervision of the war department. Together with this offer, a list of the names of those whose services were offered, numbering about 500, was forwarded to the secretary of war with the suggestion that each of the volunteers serve in his home locality by cooperation with other patriotic organizations.

NAVY NOTES

Minor's Must Wear Leggings.

At a request of the police of Newport the officers of the naval training station have adopted a rule whereby all recruits of the service classed as minors must wear leggings when in uniform in order that they can be distinguished from the older men. This was said to be requested to prevent minors from visiting saloons and obtaining liquor. It is understood that local dealers are to make a similar request.

No More Shore Liberty.

All shore liberty for the crew of the U. S. S. North Carolina will be stopped after 9:30 Sunday night.

Waiting for Ship.

Several wives of officers on the U. S. S. Montana are now in this city awaiting the arrival of that ship.

$10,000 for a Camp.

The naval officials of the first naval district on Friday received from Washington authority to spend $10,000 for establishment of a camp and training station for the 3,000 naval reservists of the district.

Mother Wanted to Go With Boys.

A mother who wanted her two boys to do service in the navy made a deep impression upon Chief Boatswain John Paul O'Neil, who received her at the navy station, Charlestown. "I'd like to go with my boys, if they get in," she said. "I do not know what a woman could do in the navy, but there must be some place for a mother to be near her sons," she said. The boys were aged fifteen and sixteen and too young for the navy.

French Sailors in Parade.

Several hundred French sailors joined with 5,000 American bluejackets and soldiers in a patriotic parade at Norfolk on Friday.

Bad Business.

Several nights ago posters, evidently home-made, were stuck on the high places of Germantown, a section of Abilene. The text was to the effect that it would not be advisable for the young men of that locality to enlist in the United States navy or army. The police have removed all they could find.

First Woman in Academy.

The first woman yeoman to be on duty at the naval academy reported on April 26 in the person of Miss Mabel Vincent who signed articles at the Baltimore recruiting station. She is a second class yeoman and will be assigned to duty in the office of the experiment station.

Sailed From Japan Today.

A Japanese warship will sail for this country today bearing the remains of the late Ambassador George W. Guthrie.

New a Storeroom.

The former telephone exchange room in building 20 has been converted to a storeroom.

Good Man for the Place.

Charles Hubbard, an ensign in the naval reserve, formerly with the Lake Torpedo Boat Company, at Bridgeport, has been assigned to the industrial department and will relieve Lieut. Sampson of the engineering office.

Cards of Honor.

"Cards of Honor" have been provided for display outside every house in the United States which has a man serving his country in the U. S. marine corps. These cards bear the following announcement in letters of script, "A man from this house is serving in the U. S. Marine Corps." The first consignment of these cards was issued in New York last week and the men who were accepted for service received copies which were turned over to their relatives or the friends with whom they resided.

Taking Them Away.

The industrial office is being stripped of officers every day. The latest to move under orders are Lieut. Commander Dowling, Lieut. Sampson and McElroy. Men from the reserve corps will be put in this department as fast as they can be found who can fill the positions.

PROSPERITY OF ITALY DEPENDS ON THREE ISSUES

(By Associated Press)

Rome, April 28.—The prosperity of Italy after the war depends upon the solution of three great engineering problems in the opinion of Professor Luigi Taddei, president of the Italian Society of Civil Engineers. These three problems, he stated in an address here this week, are: The reclamation of marsh lands, the irrigation of semi-arid tracts, and the more complete utilization of water power, especially in the production of chemical fertilizers for the soil.

The chief interest of the United States in Professor Taddei's program is found in his statement that it will require large sums of foreign capital, some of which Italy hopes to draw from America.

"During the last five years of peace," said the professor, "nearly 700,000 of the best elements of our rural population left their native villages to seek better conditions of labor across the Atlantic, or worse still, in middle Europe. This excess of emigration is a drawback to the progress of Italy and of the Latin races, as France has no increase at all in her population, while the Teutonic races increase very rapidly."

"To reduce emigration it is necessary to offer to intending emigrants work, better paid and in healthier conditions. This can be done by developing the natural resources of Italy, many of which are still lying dormant or are not yet completely utilized."

"By improving agricultural methods, putting in cultivation land that now lies idle—either through excess of water or for lack of it—that is by draining marshes and irrigating many semi-arid regions, especially in the south, lands now almost sterile would be blessed by the most luxurious crops. Also hydro-electric power should be used better for the production of nitric acid and other fertilizers and for developing many industries connected with agricultural products. There should also be better means of transport, by rail, by road, and by water. The sanitary and social conditions of the rural centers of population should be improved by better water supply, better sewage, better schooling."

"All these problems involve numerous and important engineering works and require large initial outlay of capital, to be refunded, including yearly interest, in about thirty to fifty years." "Upon the development of our natural resources along the lines I have indicated," concluded the professor, "depends the possibility of realizing an Italian population of 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 inhabitants, which is necessary to the British-led-in-Slav union to keep peace in Europe."

SILK HOSE MUST GO, CO-EDS RULE.

RUSSIAN TROOPS TAKE OATH OF ALLEGIANCE

Not a Dissenting Voice Was Raised When the General Read the New Oath.

(By Associated Press)

Salonica, April 25.—All the Russian troops on the Balkan front have now taken the oath of allegiance to the new Russian government. Russian soldiers in the vicinity of Salonika were marshaled on a suburban parade ground for the ceremony of swearing allegiance to the provisional authority. The general in command addressed them reading the Russian Emperor's proclamation of abdication and explaining that a constitutional convention was to be held later to choose a form of government.

"The Emperor has given up his throne," said the general, "and has absolved you of your oath of fidelity to him. You are therefore free now to take the oath of allegiance to the new provisional government."

Not a dissenting voice was raised when the general read the new oath which was first repeated by the officers and then by the men, all of whom thereupon filed past and kissed the Bible and the cross in token of their new allegiance.

MAYOR CURLEY MAKES UNCALLED FOR ATTACKS ON DANIELS

The savage attacks made upon Secretary of the Navy Daniels by Mayor Curley of Boston at a flag raising, shows that the mayor must have been trying to run the navy department. The article printed giving account of Mr. Curley's bitter attacks will make more friends for our secretary of the navy. Mr. Curley considers himself big enough to handle all branches of the government and we presume he has been "butting into Mr. Daniels' duties."

Thirty or more members of the York Fire Department arrived in Portsmouth at 8:00 o'clock last evening and were met at the Atlantic Shore Ferry landing by a committee from Engine Company 2, Portsmouth Fire Department, and were escorted to the No. 2 Engine house on Court street where they became the guests of the local company. A general good time followed, supper being served in the house, and an informal entertainment was presented. G. L. MOULTON ALL THE YEAR ROUND MANAGER

G. L. Moulton, of York, well known in this city, has been appointed as all-the-year round manager of the new Marshall House at York Harbor, and begins his duties May 1. Mr. Moulton was formerly employed by the late B. S. Mitchell, and left that position to accept the management of the Ocean House at York Beach, where he remained for two or three years. From this hotel he went to the Sparhawk at Ogunquit where he was until the new corporation controlling the Marshall House secured his services.

Mr. Moulton has also been supervisor of schools of Pawtucket, R. I., for the last few years, but will, if necessary, have to abandon this position when he takes up his new duties at York Harbor.

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR STATE GUARD

To Form 13 Companies of Men Ineligible for Militia Service.

Concord, April 28.—The military emergency board appointed by Gov. Henry W. Keyes under the law establishing the state guard, which has been at work since the board was created, has issued a bulletin in which its activities are outlined.

The board was organized to "take proper action to perfect and maintain a body of armed troops for duty within the state of New Hampshire to be known as the State Guard."

By the same act, the board acting with the governor, is directed to "make regulations to provide for the manner and form of enlistment, organization, government, discipline, maintenance, armament, equipment, and for compensation of the State Guard when called into active service to carry out the purposes of vice and do all things necessary and this act." Such compensation so paid shall not be at a greater rate than that now paid the National Guard while in active state service.

Until further orders the State Guard will be organized as a regiment of 12 companies of infantry with maximum enlisted strength of 66 men in each company, and one machine gun company with maximum strength of 53 men.

The State Guard shall be composed of such citizens of the state between the ages of 18 and 55 years as cannot be held for service in the National Guard, in addition to which married men of the ages of 18 to 45 inclusive, may be recruited for service in the State Guard until required for service in the National Guard. They shall be enlisted for two years or during the war unless sooner discharged. Single men between the ages of 18 and 45 are eligible for enlistment in the State Guard only in the event that they are unable to meet the physical requirements for service in the National Guard. The physical examination of recruits will be made by medical officers or physicians to be designated by the board.

The government and discipline of the State Guard shall conform to the existing laws and regulations relating to the National Guard of this state. Instruction in military drill and guard duty shall be in accordance with the infantry drill regulations and manual of inferior guard duty in use in the United States army.

It is expected that the armories of the state will soon be available for the use of the State Guard. Where there are no armories available, owned or rented by the state, commanding officers of companies may arrange for leasing suitable quarters for drills and storage of property, subject to the approval of this board.

The law permits compensation only when the guard is called into active state service. It is therefore expected that service in preparatory work and drills will be rendered from patriotic motives without expectation of compensation. The bulletin is signed by Whitfield S. Edgerly, Elbert Wheeler, Frank W. Russell, military emergency board.

OLYMPIA THEATRE NOTES.

In the city of Buenos Aires, Argentina, there are 180 theatres. More than 1,500,000 people paid admissions during last month at these theatres. The average seating capacity there is about 200, while some of the larger houses seat 500 and even more. Although American pictures already have been very popular, they had considerable competition from foreign made pictures, especially French, prior to the European war. Since then the use of European pictures has died out and their place has been taken by the American product. Today films from the United States may be seen every night in nearly all of the theatres there. This is one good result of the war and elevates the American producers to a plane never attained by the foreign makers.

Dorothy Dalton appears soon at this theatre in a new line picture "Back of the Man." It is the most sensational picture in which this star has ever appeared, wherein she assumes the role of siren of the Cleopatra style.

An excellent bill is headed with the Blue Bird picture, "The Man Who Took a Chance," at this theatre today.

The picture is full of pep and has many new situations. Franklin Parnum who recently starred in "The Devil's Day," has the leading role, supported by Agnes Vernon.

Mrs. Vernon Castle stars in the latest episode of "Patina," entitled "Wings of Death."

Thomas Ince introduces the new star Ed Bennett in the Triangle production, "Princess of the Dark."

Miss Bennett comes from Australia and this picture marks her first screen appearance. She is of that type of beauty that makes her wonderfully well suited for the screen, and we predict a career of success extraordinary for her.

A Triangle comedy, "When Hensets Collide," concludes the program. Remember tonight's performances at 6:30 and 8:30.

NO FOREIGN GOODS WILL BE EXHIBITED

(By Associated Press)
Paris, April 28.—"The Paris Fair," opening this year, May 1, on the Esplanade des Invalides is in its 16th year, but comparatively few persons were aware of its existence. "The Lyons Sample Fair," a by-product of the war, organized to compete with the Fair of Leipzig, furnished a stimulant that brought the Paris Institution out of obscurity. There will be no rivalry however, between the Paris Fair and the Lyons organization; the latter will continue as an international institution while no foreign goods of any kind will be shown at the Paris Fair.

Organized in 1902 by a few merchants who had just returned from Leipzig, the Paris Fair languished until 1913 when the municipal council was interested sufficiently to send delegates to Leipzig to study the workings of that institution. The report of the commission favored the opening of an important Paris Fair in 1915. The war retarded the project, but at the same time, by provoking the organization of the Lyons Fair, determined the organization to begin operations on a larger scale this year. The principal object of this institution is to develop the home market for articles made in Paris.

UNDERWRITERS WERE SHOCKED

(By Associated Press)
London, April 28.—Underwriters at Lloyd's were shocked the other day to learn that the military tribunal had suggested the assignment of women workers to replace men ill for service there. There was even talk of a strike.

Edward E. Nicholls, a member of the directing committee replied: "The Tribunal doesn't know what it is about. It endorses this suggestion. Anyone who knows how business is conducted at Lloyd's knows that it is a seething mass of struggling people. No woman could decently take part in such work. Underwriters are already employing women as clerks in their offices, and they are doing excellent work. This however, has been carried about as far as it can be. It takes a life time to train men to work on the floor at Lloyd's. If more men are taken from us, it will simply become impossible to insure ships. We shall have to consider in fact, the question of calling a cessation of work in order to draw attention to what is being done."

MANY FEATURE NUMBERS PRESENTED BY CHILDREN

Specialty Numbers and Ballroom Dances Finely
Presented by Pupils of Mrs. Bragdon in Public Reception

The latest steps in ballroom dancing were excellently illustrated on Friday evening at the annual exhibition and reception of the advanced children's class of Mrs. M. Elita Bragdon, which was held in Freeman's hall before a large and interested audience. In addition to the ballroom dances on the program a large number of solo dances and novelty numbers were artistically presented by the pupils which called for the greatest amount of applause from the audience. The gallery of the hall was well filled by guests of Mrs. Bragdon who followed the movements of the dancers with much interest and appreciation.

The program opened with a march led by Horace Mitchell, Jr., and little Catherine Prime, one of the sweetest members of the class who on previous occasions has been one of the star performers at Mrs. Bragdon's receptions and who shows marked talent in this line. The march was one of the prettiest seen in Portsmouth the pupils following the complicated movements without error from start to conclusion. Several ballroom dances were presented, all the pupils taking part in the exhibition, and the numbers included the Baltimore oge-step, waltz, fox trot, Baltimore waltz, T. H. one step, and others, all artistically performed and ending for hearty approval. In addition to these several special exhibitions were presented, Miss Louise Bragdon and Robert Sweetser giving an exhibition of London Taps; and the Philadelphia Six being finely presented by Francis Rowe and Dorothy Rundlett.

The special solo hit of the evening was rendered by Louise Bragdon in the Flame Dance, the little child executing the complicated movements of this interpretive number with the highest degree of accuracy and grace. Her efforts were highly appreciative by the audience which expressed its pleasure by prolonged applause. The Flag Dance, by Gladys Wasser and Kenneth Rand; The Sleigh Bells by Celestine Fogg, Georgianna Duncan and Anna Flanigan; and the Seave Dance by Margaret Obrey, Dorothy Rundlett, Florence Johnson and Carolyn Badger, were also well received for the excellent execution.

One of the big feature novelty numbers was the Cabaret Dance in which eleven pupils took part. This was performed on the floor the stage setting following the popular cabaret hall with tables set around leaving a space for dancing. The four gentlemen, appeared with their ladies dressed in evening clothes and carrying canes. The ladies being gowned in the height of fashion. As they entered the cabaret they were seated by the waiters, dressed in the regulation white coats and as their refreshments were being served and disposed of, the guests were entertained by a Spanish Dancer. Later the guests joined in the dancing, executing the latest steps in ballroom dances.

The Dance of the Sprites was another of the feature numbers led by Catherine Prime as the Queen and assisted by eight other little girls as the sprites. The concluding number was a march number, Young America, eight boys, led by Francis Rowe as color bearer. When the colors were brought onto the floor every person in the gallery arose and remained standing until the conclusion of the number.

An intermission followed during which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Andrew Jarvis, at midnight, a large number of the guests being. General dancing followed until in the balcony taking part. Music for the dancing was furnished by Leon A. Robinson.

Mrs. D. Wesley Badger, Mrs. Richard D. McDonough and Mrs. Robert G. Rowe acted as matrons. Horace Mitchell, Jr., Kenneth Rand and Harold Ryan acting as ushers during the reception. The program of the exhibition was as follows:

GERMANY PLANS TO DIVIDE BELGIUM

The Hague, Netherlands, April 28.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The interview of the self-styled Council of Flanders with the German Chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, with the Chancellor's proclamation of a forthcoming autonomous Flanders in a dual Belgium, is being eagerly discussed in all its aspects in Belgium, Holland and Germany.

The idea, as defined by Dr. Frans van Cauwelaert, one of the best known Flemish leaders, is to split up Belgium into two administrative units under the crown—a Flemish or Netherlands-speaking portion, with Brussels as its capital, and a Walloon or French-speaking half, with its capital at Namur. The German authorities, without waiting to see what the war may bring forth, are planning to put the administrative separation into effect.

The department of education has already been split in two and the majority of the other ministries—Justice, the Interior, the Department of Trade, Industry and Agriculture—are to be similarly treated, one group remaining at Brussels and the other going to Namur.

The "Political Department," which has the oversight of the food supply as carried out by the Belgian Relief Commission will remain undivided.

The German press argues that it will be comparatively easy to carry through the proposed separation of the Flemish and French-speaking populations, the language frontier having persisted for a thousand years.

With virtually unanimous voice the Flemish and other Belgian leaders in Holland join in mercilessly condemning the deception that thus went to the capital of the enemy of their king and country. Several well known Flemings (in the event as fortunate in that it reveals the nature of the "activist" group that has been cooperating with the Germans, and signalize their action as "high treason."

"Permanent dependence of our Flemish people on Germany would betoken the slow but certain loss of our language our economic independence and our hereditary liberties," declares Dr. van Cauwelaert, who is a Catholic member of the Belgian Chamber, while Arthur Breyse, Liberal member of the Chamber, says: "On the day that the Flemings shall again be free the Council of Flanders and activism will cease to be. The Flemings will demand that German institutions shall at once disappear with the German commanders. The overwhelming mass of the Flemish population entertains at least as much hatred towards the Activists as towards the Germans."

Camille Huysmans, member of the Belgian Chamber and Secretary of the Socialist Internationale, declares: "The members of the Council of Flanders are nobodies, and represent nothing and nobody." Only one or two isolated and feeble voices are raised here in behalf of the suggested autonomous Flanders under the German aegis.

DANIELS TELLS YOUNGER BOYS TO STAY HOME

SECRETARY OF NAVY SAYS THEY CAN DEVELOP ENERGIES AT HOME IN SERVING COUNTRY

Washington, April 27.—The appeal of war adroit to American youth has brought the Navy such a flood of enlistment applications from boys that Secretary Daniels issued a statement yesterday announcing that no one under seventeen years of age would be taken into the service.

"Daily applications are being received from eager boys under the legal age," the Secretary said, "and patriotic parents, feeling that America is in danger, are consenting wholeheartedly to the sacrifice. I have every appreciation of this spirit, but I deem it most unwise for the country to be put in the position of grinding up its seed corn. It is also unnecessary at this time, for the adult manhood of the country is responding to the call in such manner as to meet every need of the Navy."

"Let the boys under seventeen be kept at home, searching out the chances for national service that lie all about them and growing normally to the virile manhood that is America's strength. The Boy Scouts and similar organizations offer a fine opportunity for the patriotic youngster, for while the training is invaluable in itself, the war uses of this body will be innumerable."

"There is also work in the gardens and in the fields, for every hand that adds to our food supply is an important hand. Whatever their employment, however, we have not yet reached the point where we have to take young boys out of the school and out of the home for the fighting line."

Mr. Daniels has talked over the question of enlisting boys with Rear Admirals DeCham and Browning of the British Navy. In that service boys of fourteen are accepted, but are separately trained and handled until they are old enough to mix with the men of the regular personnel.

A total of 1003 additional recruits were gathered for the Navy Wednesday, according to telegraphic reports, making $1,263 now in the service exclusive of apprentices and hospital corps men.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

By His Excellency, Henry W. Keyes, Governor.

A Proclamation for Arbor Day.

"The constantly increasing interest in forestry and appreciation of both its practical and aesthetic value to this and succeeding generations deserves to be fostered and encouraged in every possible way by both official and private initiative. New Hampshire, by reason of its location, its contour, its industrial and economic history and condition, has especial reason to take thought and action for the intelligent use and careful conservation of its forest cover. With the desire to call renewed attention to this important cause, and in continuance of a worthy custom, I hereby proclaim Friday, the eleventh day of May, as Arbor Day in New Hampshire. In accordance with the present imperative duty for the conservation of all our resources, I call upon our people, old and young, to take action upon that day for the preservation and the increase of our woodlands and our orchards, important factors, through their ability and their beauty in the prosperity of our state. Especially, I ask the co-operation of all our citizens in the campaign against the white pine blister rust, now threatening great damage to our forests."

Given at the council chamber in Concord, this twenty-sixth day of April in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-first.

Henry W. Keyes, Governor.

By His Excellency the Governor with the advice of the Council. Edwin C. Bean, Secretary of State.

NO HOPE HELD FOR MINERS

HAWAII FACES SHORTAGE IN FOOD SUPPLY

(By Associated Press)

Honolulu, T. H., April 26.—War has brought upon Hawaii what is pronounced by Federal, territorial and business authorities as a serious situation as regards the food supply. Fears are openly expressed that in the event of the appearance of a hostile fleet in the Pacific, or any other occurrence that might shut off or curtail trans-Pacific traffic, the islands would be in a bad way for food, as there is, it is stated, less than a week's supply on hand.

Governor L. L. Pinkham has issued a proclamation in which he calls attention to the serious food situation, that he says, confronts Hawaii and urges land owners and others immediately to increase the resources of the territory.

The situation is greatly complicated by the restrictions imposed by the censorship. All use of wireless is prohibited by the military and naval authorities. This hampers the movements of the fleets of steamships which bring produce to Honolulu from the other islands of the group.

There is a disposition shown on the part of a certain element of the community to collect and hoard supplies. Warnings have been issued unofficially by the authorities against this practice, but this far without evident results.

Pieces of the most necessary commodities such as flour, rice, potatoes, and onions have advanced greatly.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

By His Excellency, Henry W. Keyes, Governor.

A Proclamation for the Growing and Saving of Food.

After careful consideration and consideration of all available information upon the subject, I am impressed with the earnest belief that this state and this nation have a most important duty devolving upon them at this time in the matter of the increase and the conservation of our food supply. In order to do her part on this line, New Hampshire must cultivate her arable land more thoroughly and efficiently, must raise more crops, must consume much more food herself than has been the case for many years. The spirit of individualism, seconded by every consideration of self-interest, should urge us to immediate and general action upon this line. Huge every agricultural in our state to plant more acres to more varied crops this year than ever before. Without fear of over production and consequent financial loss, we can cultivate with profit this year all the land for which we can secure seed, fertilizer and labor; and it is his duty to himself and to his country to do so. In this connection I ask the financial interests of our state to show their liberality and patriotism by making such reasonable loans as our farmers may ask for in anticipation of crop returns. And I ask the merchants and middlemen, by whom producer and consumer are brought together, to be prompt and just in cash settlements with the farmers. I ask that great part of our population which is not located upon farms, but which may have access to land that can be used for garden plots, to raise and store, so far as possible, the vegetables needed for family use throughout the year. This is work in which all members of the family can take part, and I urge them to do so. Of equal importance with increased food production is the conservation of that which is produced. Extravagance and wastefulness in the use of food is a national sin, which now must be corrected, for each and every one of us do his or her part to this end and thus aid in a very necessary and material way in meeting the momentous and critical situation which confronts us.

Given at the council chamber in Concord this twenty-sixth day of April in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-first.

Henry W. Keyes, Governor.
